

DIEMERSDAL

Diemersdal Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc 2019

A life-long obsession with the Sauvignon Blanc grape led to Thys Louw of Diemersdal finding a vineyard in New Zealand through which to express his commitment to this variety. Offering a taste of this extraordinary wine country under the Diemersdal label. The Diemersdal Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc was made in conjunction with Ben Glover of Glover Family Vineyards.

Origin: Marlborough, New Zealand

Blend: 100% Sauvignon Blanc

Analysis: Alc: 12.55%

Total Acid: 6.20 g/l RS: 2.93 g/l pH: 3.32

Terroir:

Marlborough lies on the north-eastern side of New Zealand's South Island and is renowned as one of the world's leading regions for Sauvignon Blanc. This wine is made from grapes growing in the Dillons Point sub-region of Marlborough's Wairau Valley. Southern latitudes ensure over 2 400 hours of annual sunshine. The eastern coastal aspect bestows cooling sea breezes and protective mountains, providing relief from extreme rain and wind. Summers are long and mild ensuring extensive hang-time for the Sauvignon Blanc bunches, allowing a wide range of styles to flourish. One of the keys to Marlborough's success is its ancient, glacial, free-draining soil. The extensive braided river systems deposited a threaded legacy of stony sandy loam over very deep, stony gravels.

Oenology:

The grapes were machine harvested at 21.2 Balling and crushed and destemmed reductively. The juice was co-inoculated with X5 and VL3 yeast which enhance some of the thiol notes but maintain the vibrant ripe herbaceous notes of the vineyard. The approximate time of fermentation is around 2 weeks, at around $12/13~^{\circ}$ C.

The wine is left on the gross lees for 3-4 weeks before racking, with some of the lighter lees and a sulphur addition for protection, it spent a further 2 months on the fine lees. It was lightly fined to polish the wine, there after it went through protein and cold stabilisation – filtered and bottled the first week of August 2019.

Winemaker's notes:

The Dillons Point area of Marlborough, New Zealand is renowned for producing stunning pungent wines of power, finesse and vibrancy. Characteristic tropical notes of granadilla, gooseberry and Kiwi-fruit are harnessed by a firm, exuberant bracing freshness, a nervy edge of green citrus and tense minerality. The finish is cool and long, making for a memorable Sauvignon Blanc experience.

Food suggestions:

Shellfish, especially mussels and raw oysters; grilled fish, sashimi and poultry.